Part 1: Connor Barry's Case Study

The Situation (Spring 2024): Connor was a high school senior at a top football program. D1 offers coming in. Brand interest (NIL deals worth $10K-$50K). Multiple agents calling. The Problem: He had talent but no structure. No legal review. No financial planning. Just pressure and opportunity. The Solution: Built his Circle in order: 1. Lawyer (reviewed all opportunities, identified risk) 2. Agent (sourced additional deals, negotiated terms) 3. Financial advisor (structured tax implications) 4. Trainer (performance monitoring) 5. Mentor (perspective & wisdom)

Date	Decision	Circle Role	Outcome
March 2024	First agent contact	Lawyer reviewed	Protected interests
April 2024	NIL brand offer ($15K)	Lawyer + FA	Negotiated terms
May 2024	D1 scholarship decision	Mentor + Lawyer	Chose best fit
June 2024	Second NIL opportunity	Agent + Lawyer	Added to portfolio

Result: Connor signed 2 NIL deals worth $40K+ with full legal review, tax optimization, and zero regrets. He's protected, positioned, and prepared.

Part 2: How to Build Your Circle

Step 1: Find Your Lawyer (Week 1)

You need a sports law attorney or general counsel familiar with NIL and contracts. Where to find: Law firms in your area, university connections, local bar association Questions to ask: • Have you reviewed NIL contracts before? • What's your fee structure? (hourly, retainer, per-deal) • Will you be my first call on new opportunities? • Do you have conflicts with agents or brands? Red flag: If they want commission on deals. Lawyers should be paid separately.

Step 2: Find Your Agent (Week 2-3)

Your agent sources opportunities and negotiates deals. They work for commission. Where to find: NCAA database, referrals, word of mouth Questions to ask: • What % commission do you take? (standard: 5%) • How many clients do you represent? • What's your track record in NIL deals? • Will you respect my lawyer's guidance? Red flag: If they pressure you to sign before legal review.

Step 3: Find Your Financial Advisor (Week 3-4)

Your FA handles taxes, wealth structure, and long-term planning. Where to find: Family referrals, CFP (Certified Financial Planner) database Key point: They should work on fiduciary standard (not commission on products).

Part 3: Decision Templates

New Opportunity Checklist

Step	Your Circle Role	Action
1. Receive offer	Agent	Document terms in writing
2. Initial review	Lawyer	Flag risks, red flags
3. Negotiation	Agent + Lawyer	Improve terms
4. Tax analysis	Financial Advisor	Analyze after-tax outcome
5. Decision	You + Mentor	Approve or decline
6. Sign	Lawyer	Final review before signature

Red Flags to Watch: ✗ Pressure to decide quickly ✗ Agent suggesting they'll 'handle' legal review ✗ No written contract or terms ✗ Promises of guaranteed outcomes ✗ Anyone asking you to keep it secret
